ERRATA

In Evelyn Pluhar's "Speciesism: A Form of Bigotry or a Justified View?" (Between the Species 4 (2), 1988, pp. 83-96), on p. 90 the text should read, "E.g., you would be obligated to use your limited funds to shelter and educate your child rather than the neighbor's, but you would not be entitled to steal from your neighbor to give your child a better education."

Footnote 6 should read: "Michael A. Fox, The Case For Animal Experimentation (Berkeley: U. of California Press, 1986), pp. 58-59. (Note: Shortly after publishing this book, Fox thoroughly repudiated its argumentation and conclusions. See his letter to the editor in the December 15, 1986 issue of The Scientist, and his "Animal Experimentation: A Philosopher's Changing Views," Between The Species 3 (2), 1987, pp. 55-82.

The paper by Professor Callicott in the last issue and the discussion of it with Professor Miller were presented at the Pacific Division meeting of the Society for the Study of Ethics and Animals, held in Portland, Oregon, March, 1988.

The editors regret the error and omission.
